第7問 次のビートルズ(The Beatles)に関する英文を読み、あとの問い(A・B)に答えなさい。

*The Beatles were four young musicians from *Liverpool, England. Their names were John Lennon, Paul McCartney, George Harrison, and Ringo Starr. These four men never took music lessons. They taught themselves to play music.

In 1957, John started a band called The Quarrymen. He was sixteen years old. Then he met Paul. They began to write songs and sing together. In 1958, Paul invited his friend George to watch the band. Soon, George joined them. The Quarrymen started to play in England and made money. In 1960, they changed the band's name to "The Beatles." In 1962, Ringo joined them.

The Beatles made their first hit song in 1962. The song was *"Love Me Do." In 1963, their second single *"Please Please Me" was a bigger hit. Their third single, *"From Me to You" became the number one hit song on *the British charts. By 1963, The Beatles were very popular in the UK, and Beatlemania started. "Beatlemania" was the name for the fans' strong feeling for the band. As The Beatles and their songs became popular, they got more fans. At concerts, the fans *screamed so loudly that the music could not be heard!

At that time, The Beatles were still not known in America. Their song "Please Please Me" didn't become a hit song there. However, in 1964, their fifth single *"I Want to Hold Your Hand" became a big hit. It ranked number one in America. The Americans fell in love with them, and Beatlemania started in America, too.

In the same year, they first went to America. On February 7, they arrived at the airport. When they got off the plane, so many fans were waiting there! They were screaming and crying! Some of them pushed themselves up against the fence. Others *passed out when The Beatles waved. Two days later, The Beatles played five songs on a TV show. More than 73,000,000 people across the country watched it. That was almost half of everyone in America. In sixty days in 1964, they played fifty-three concerts, each in a different city in America.

They went to other countries around the world, such as Australia, New Zealand, Germany, and Japan, to play concerts. Beatlemania *spread around the world. People everywhere copied their clothes and their hair. The Beatles became the most popular rock band in the world.

They became a world-famous rock band, but they had many problems. When they were walking outside, so many fans were running up to them that they couldn't move. They couldn't even go to the movies or to a restaurant in their free time. When they were on tour, so many fans waited outside the hotel day and night, so they couldn't leave the hotel. They had to run away from fans all the time. Because they were very tired, they decided to stop doing concert tours. In 1966, The Beatles played their last concert.

The Beatles broke up in 1970. They wanted to play new music. All of The Beatles did interesting, new things. John wrote music with his wife, Yoko Ono. Paul started a new group called Wings with his wife, Linda. George and Ringo made their own records and gave concerts. Sadly, John was shot dead in New York in 1980. He was forty years old. George got cancer and died in 2001.

We still hear The Beatles' songs on the radio, TV, CD and online. Their music will never die.
